2. Draw the stick figures given.

Observe how people around you move objects and think about which joints help those actions.

Ask children, in groups, to discuss the joints used in these activities.