For Emergency Help

Discuss and Learn

Appa, on my way to home from the library, a vehicle went fast, making a loud "Woo-woo" sound. It had the number “108" written on it. Which vehicle is that Appa?

That is an ambulance, Sumathi. All vehicles must give way to it. The emergency medical helpline number is 108. There are other helpline numbers for different emergencies.

What are they, Appa?

100 for Police

101 for Fire and rescue services

Oh, the numbers are easy to remember.

Yes, there are numbers for the safety and educational assistance of children like you, too!

I know them! They are given in our textbooks.

CHILD LINE 1098 NIGHT & DAY TOLL FREE

14417 Education Information Centre

That is great, Sumathi! You can dial these emergency numbers free of cost.